

Spoonbill facts

- This elegant white wader has a wing span of up to 135cm but can weigh 1950 grams.
- Their numbers have doubled in the last 25 years.
- Only up to 4 pairs have bred here in the UK.
- Spoonbills sweep their beaks through mud and shallow water, searching for small fish molluscs and crustaceans.
- Spoonbills migrate to the tropics in winter with European breeders mainly going to Africa

Spoonbill facts

- This elegant white wader has a wing span of up to 135cm but can weigh 1950 grams.
- Their numbers have doubled in the last 25 years.
- Only up to 4 pairs have bred here in the UK.
- Spoonbills sweep their beaks through mud and shallow water, searching for small fish molluscs and crustaceans.
- Spoonbills migrate to the tropics in winter with European breeders mainly going to Africa

Spoonbill facts

- This elegant white wader has a wing span of up to 135cm but can weigh 1950 grams.
- Their numbers have doubled in the last 25 years.
- Only up to 4 pairs have bred here in the UK.
- Spoonbills sweep their beaks through mud and shallow water, searching for small fish molluscs and crustaceans.
- Spoonbills migrate to the tropics in winter with European breeders mainly going to Africa

Spoonbill facts

- This elegant white wader has a wing span of up to 135cm but can weigh 1950 grams.
- Their numbers have doubled in the last 25 years.
- Only up to 4 pairs have bred here in the UK.
- Spoonbills sweep their beaks through mud and shallow water, searching for small fish molluscs and crustaceans.
- Spoonbills migrate to the tropics in winter with European breeders mainly going to Africa

